2. Selection procedure, stages and criteria

The Heinrich Böll Foundation’s selection procedure for scholarship applicants consists of three stages:

2.1 Submission of written application documents
2.2 An interview with a liaison lecturer (telephone interviews may also be held)
2.3 Attendance at a selection workshop in Berlin consisting of a one-to-one interview and a group discussion

At each stage only a small group is selected for the next stage. You will be notified in writing of the decision reached at each stage of the selection procedure.

Stage 1: Submission of written application documents

The key criteria for assessing written applications and admission to the next stage of the procedure are:

- Very good school and university academic record
- A convincing research project (exposé, innovative line of enquiry, realistic timetable, preliminary work that has reached an advanced stage)
- Social commitment and political interest
- Convincing arguments for applying to the Heinrich Böll Foundation

Stage 2: Interview with a liaison lecturer

At this stage a report by the liaison lecturer is added to your application. It is based on an interview of about an hour with the liaison lecturer appointed by the Heinrich Böll Foundation. In exceptional cases the liaison lecturer may agree to hold a telephone interview.

The main points dealt with in the interview with the liaison lecturer will be:

- PhD thesis subject, theoretical and methodical approach, relevance, status of preliminary work, timetable and, if appropriate, relationship between academic research, practice and politics
- Main focus of research work, research interests
- Career prospects, goal orientation
- Social commitment and political interest as appropriate
- Personal suitability

The liaison lecturer will then write an expert report on the interview covering the above-mentioned points.
Stage 3: Selection workshop

On the basis of the liaison lecturers’ and other expert reports and the quality of the exposé applicants will be invited to attend the selection workshop.

The selection workshop consists of a structured individual interview and a group discussion. The workshop will focus mainly on assessing applicants’ personal abilities as described in our Mission Statement on Promoting Young Talent (see www.boell.de/scholarships).

NB: If you have already attended a selection workshop and received a letter of rejection you may not re-apply.

4. Documents to include with your application

If you are interested in the Heinrich Böll Foundation’s scholarship and funding programme, please use the web portal on www.boell.de/scholarships for your application.

A complete set of application documents needs to be uploaded to the web portal as pdf versions of the following documents.
I. Application form for a scholarship for doctoral studies (PhD)

The document’s template is available from our website and from the download center of the application portal. Please enter the following data online into the pdf form.

- Your personal data and CV
- Your motivation for applying to the Heinrich Böll Foundation
- An outline of your social commitments and political interests
- An outline of your PhD thesis project et al.

II. Copy of your degree certificate or equivalent

If applicable, a translation of the documents in German or English, and with an explanation of the grading if it differs from the German system (cf Modifizierte Bayerische Formel on the Internet). The degree certificate or equivalent must be available at the time of application.

III. Certification by the university of admission to doctoral studies or equivalent documentation (can be submitted later, but must reach us at the latest immediately before funding is authorised)

IV. For foreign applicants: Proof of German language proficiency

- Minimum requirement: „Deutsche Sprachprüfung für den Hochschulzugang“ DSH 2, or Level B2

V. Detailed exposé of your research project (max. 10 pages)

The exposé should be structured as follows:

- A detailed outline of your research project, including the research topic, current status of research, theoretical background, methodological approach and a research plan, academic and social relevance, including a bibliography of works cited: up to 8 pages
- Overview of the structure of your exposé: 1 page
- A preliminary research plan and timetable for, at most, 24 months, including a detailed description of the preliminary work you have undertaken to date: 1 page

VI. A third-party reference on your social commitment (1–2 pages)

This should be a confirmation and detailed description of your social commitment by a person of your choice who knows you well and is able to assess your commitment. This referee should be neither a friend nor a member of your family. Wherever possible, he or she should be a representative of an institution or an organisation. Internship testimonials are not suitable for this purpose. Foreign applicants from conflict areas or similar who are unable to provide a reference must explain why.

Please inform your referee that the reference should above all contain the following information:

- A description of your social commitment, especially in areas in which you have actively assumed responsibility, outlining what exactly you have done or achieved to date, assessing in particular aspects of your commitment that are not sufficiently apparent from your CV or your motivation outline.
- A personal assessment of your specific concerns and which particular causes you support
- An assessment of your ability to reflect on political affairs and an appraisal of your personality
- The context in which the referee made your acquaintance and how long he or she has known you.

The referee may email the personal reference directly to the scholarship department of the Heinrich Böll Foundation. The email address of the scholarship department can be found on the form. Alternatively you yourself can upload the reference to the application portal. The reference must be on letterhead and the original must be signed. A signature is not required if the reference is emailed directly by the referee from his/her email account.
To avoid duplication, please ensure that the reference is submitted to us only once – either directly by the referee by email, or by yourself in the application portal.
Please note it is not necessary to send the reference additionally by post.
Please make sure to send us the reference just once.

VII. Two expert references from university lecturers

The two expert references on your doctoral project should be written by a professor, an assistant professor or a private lecturer (”Privatdozent/in”). One of them must be the main supervisor of your PhD thesis.
Please inform your referee that for the expert reference he or she needs to use the form provided. It can be downloaded from the website at www.boell.de/scholarships.

The expert reference should preferably be sent directly to the scholarship department of the Heinrich Böll Foundation by the referee by email. The email address of the scholarship department can be found on the form. If the expert reference is in your possession, please submit it directly with your application documents and upload it to the application portal yourself. To avoid duplication of work, please ensure that the expert reference is submitted to us only once – either directly by the referee by email, or by yourself in the application portal. The original reference must be legible, ideally typed (not handwritten), and signed. A signature is not required if the reference is emailed directly by the referee from his/her email account.

Please note: It is not necessary to send the expert reference additionally by post. Please make sure to send us each reference just once.

- Please note: The personal reference and the expert reference must come from different persons.

VIII. Refugees are requested to enclose a document providing information on their residence permit (asylum status).

5. Important notes for applicants

... on how to present your application documents:

- The complete application – i.e. all application documents including (possibly separately submitted) expert and personal references – must be submitted by the 1st March or 1st September. Only then can the application be deemed complete and ready for processing. The confirmation from the university regarding your acceptance as a doctoral candidate is the only document that may be submitted at a later date. We kindly ask for understanding that incomplete applications cannot be processed. If your application documents are not complete, we will let you know and inform you about the next application date.

- References sent to the Heinrich Böll Foundation by the referees directly must also reach us by the respective application deadline.

- Personal and expert references by university lecturers must contain the referee’s original signature. This does not apply in case the referee sends the document directly to the Heinrich Böll Foundation by e-mail.

- All documents have to be provided in German (we also accept personal reference, expert references and exposé in English)

... on data protection:

- When you submit your application, your personal details will be saved electronically and later deleted in accordance with statutory data protection requirements.

... if your application is rejected:

- There is no legal entitlement to a scholarship or to funding.

- Please appreciate that we receive so many applications that we are unfortunately unable to state specific reasons why your application was unsuccessful.
